FOREWORD

THIS is a list of Rhode Island eighteenth-century publications. It shows what the printing press of the colony and state produced before the year 1801, and where these early imprints may be found by investigators. The list gives a brief title of every book, pamphlet, newspaper, fly-sheet and broadside printed in Rhode Island during that period which has been found in the public and private libraries that are known to contain material relating to this state. Other titles, of which the originals have not been found, have been copied from the "Bibliography of Newport" compiled by Charles E. Hammett, Jun., and published in 1887; from Charles Evans's "American Bibliography, 1639–1789;" from Joseph Sabin's "Dictionary of Books relating to America, A-Sm;" and from the catalogues of booksellers and auction sales.

The list was prepared by the John Carter Brown Library as part of an effort to learn what material is available for the study of the history of printing in America, and also for the purpose of securing data upon which to base an estimate of the number of eighteenth-century American imprints now in existence.

The following pages contain the titles of 1565 separate publications printed between 1727 and 1800. The regular issues of a newspaper, as well as the supplements and usually the extra issues, are counted as one in each year. Over two-thirds of the whole number, 1089, are in the library of the Rhode Island Historical Society. This is probably a larger proportion of the early typographic output of a single state than exists in any other collection. Of the titles not in the Society's library, 143 are elsewhere in Providence. As there are 72 entries based on records, of which no original copy is known to be now in existence, these figures show that over eighty-two per cent of what remains of eighteenth-century Rhode Island printing is accessible in its original form in this city.

Of the total number of titles, 1125 date from before the year 1790, the period so far covered by Mr. Evans's invaluable

"American Bibliography." Evans gives the titles of 808 Rhode Island imprints, or about seventy per cent of those in the present list.

The concentration of this material in a single building is due largely to the generous co-operation of those who are in charge of the other libraries in Providence. For fifteen years it has been the recognized policy of the librarians of this city to work together in building up each of their collections in certain clearly defined fields, and to avoid all possible duplication of material, with consequent waste of resources. With only two noticeable exceptions, where the wishes of donors prevented this policy from being carried out, the other libraries have systematically contributed to the Rhode Island Historical Society everything that would help to make that institution stronger in its special and appropriate field.

In return, the Society has helped to provide every library in the state with a collection of books on Rhode Island history. It has contributed also from its accumulations in other subjects not so properly a part of its own collection, to the libraries of Brown University, the Providence Athenæum and Public Library, and the State Library. Quite recently it has arranged for the deposit of its large duplicate collection of Rhode Island newspapers with the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, assuring for this state a prominent representation in the principal collection of American newspapers. To the Librarian of that Society, Clarence S. Brigham, the Historical Society is indebted more than to anyone else for the comprehensive character of its Rhode Island collection.

So large a proportion of these titles belong to the Rhode Island Historical Society that no attempt has been made to locate, in this printed list, other copies of those that are found in that collection. The nearest rival is the library gathered by Sidney S. Rider, which was given by Marsden J. Perry in 1903 to Brown University, where it occupies a room in the John Hay Library building. The John Carter Brown Library, likewise a part of Brown University, also possesses many of these titles. Many others, including some of the most important ones not found anywhere else, belong to Fred A. Arnold of Providence. This list is, indeed, largely an outgrowth of notes generously loaned by Mr. Arnold. Many of the Newport imprints belong to the Newport Historical Society, and the Redwood Library in that city has an important collection of early newspapers. Several important broadsides and tracts not found elsewhere are in the George Haile Free Library at Warren, the Westerly Public Library, and in the collections of Dr. Roderick Terry of Newport and Mr. Henry Russell Drowne of New York.

The Rhode Island Historical Society and the John Carter Brown Library are under deep obligations to the custodians and owners of each of the collections mentioned above, and to those in charge of the other libraries and archives which are named in the list, for information and friendly co-operation without which it could not have approached its present comprehensiveness. The data was brought together by Miss Rebecca P. Steere of the John Carter Brown Library, and to her its thoroughness is due.

The short-title, printer's name, and the location of a copy or of the evidence upon which it is included, are all that this list aims to give. No attempt is made to show the size of each publication, whether a folio compilation of laws or a three-page political manifesto. An exception is made in the case of broadsides, which include everything printed on one side only of a single sheet. One reason for specifying these is that the John Carter Brown Library has a set approaching completeness of photostat prints of the Rhode Island broadsides, as well as of many of the separately printed Acts of Assembly and some other smaller publications. The same library also has negatives of nearly all the extant copies of the Newport Mercury, issued before the end of the year 1776. It is prepared to furnish copies of any of these at cost to students or to other libraries.

No systematic effort has been made to discover titles of books or broadsides which were probably, or in some cases certainly, printed, but which have apparently entirely disappeared. The list contains, nevertheless, a number of these titles of publications which have not been found in any library. Most of these are taken from the "Schedules" of proceedings of the General Assembly. The Schedules preserve the record of payments made for printing several proclamations and separate laws, of which no copies have been found. These have been included in the list, so far as they have been noted, when the reference seems to imply a separate publication and not merely the insertion of the document in the printer's newspaper.

Other titles are taken from the advertisements in the contemporary newspapers of books "just published." Most of the books so advertised were those that were printed elsewhere and offered for sale at the local bookshop. The advertiser did not always distinguish clearly between the things printed on his own press and those which he imported from Boston or Philadelphia. Some of the titles in Evans's Bibliography, especially those ascribed by him to Bennett Wheeler's press, of which no copies have been found, were very likely not printed in Providence.

The Rhode Island printers may sometimes have produced books which do not appear in this list because they were printed for booksellers elsewhere, with only the name of the publisher on the title page, and nothing to show where the actual printing was done. The number of these must be small, but there is at least one, a "Fourth Edition" of the Letters of Lady Mary Montagu, with the imprint "New York: Printed MDCCLXVI." This book seems to be typographically identical with one which has the imprint: "Providence, in New-England: Printed and sold by Sarah Goddard, and Company. M,DCC,LXVI." It is thought that this was printed by Mrs. Goddard for the New York trade, and that she issued a few copies for local sale. Such a proceeding would probably not have been considered in any way improper at that time, however annoying it may prove to later bibliographers.

Necessarily far from being absolutely complete, this list probably includes every sort of thing that came from the colonial printers, which was intended to be read. It does not include the things which were of primary importance to the printers themselves, because they went furthest toward finding a steady sale for ready money. The most profitable work done by the early presses, with the possible exception of the Almanacks, was the printing of legal and commercial blank-forms. It is obviously impossible to include these in such a list as this, for the number of different impressions of each form, such as those for deeds or mortgages, was countless, and few of them contain the printer's name or date. The earliest of these forms produced by James Franklin soon after he set up the first press at Newport, may be recognized with considerable certainty, and some of them have typographic interest. Franklin's son produced a very good-looking portage bill for the signatures of mariners joining a voyage, of which he was apparently proud, for he put his name on it. Solomon Southwick also put his name on an issue of these important maritime documents, as may be seen on the facsimile of one which is the frontispiece to the volume on Rhode Island Commerce published by the Massachusetts Historical Society. For the most part, however, all of these forms were printed and reprinted to meet the demands of trade, and the bulk of them are without interest of any sort, except as their total number shows how the printers made a living.

The advertisement at the end of the Rev. James Honeyman's "Faults on all Sides," printed at Newport in 1728, concludes with the statement that "Bonds, Bills, Powers of Attorney, Paper by the Ream, Snuff, Tea and Coffee by the Pound or Ounce, may be had at reasonable Rates." Every printer who established his press in a new community, busied himself to provide as soon as possible these and all other forms for which there was a demand. In the third issue of his "Providence Gazette," William Goddard announced "to be sold cheap for ready Money, At the Printing-Office near the Court-House (the old State House between North Main and Benefit Streets), A Variety of Books, Stationary, &c. &c. Among which are

"Blanks, Policies of Insurance, Portage Bills, Bills of Lading and Sale, Letters of Attorney, Administration Bonds, common Bonds, Deeds, Writs, and Executions, and all Kinds of Blanks used in this Colony, neatly printed, and sold as cheap as at any Printing-Office in New-England, or elsewhere; either Wholesale or Retail."

Many different printings of these various forms have been noted during the collection of the data for this list. In addition to those advertised by the printers for public sale, there were blank forms for apprenticeship, colony and town treasurers' notes, and later bank notes, bills of exchange, clearance and other customs-house papers, deeds of sale, military commissions, enlistment papers, regimental and company returns of men, arms and accoutrements, bills of sale for shares in privateers, tavern licenses, and tickets for the long succession of lotteries.

Under each year, beginning about the middle of the century, might have been added to the list at least one "Prox" or ballot for the general officers who were named at the May session of the Assembly. Most of these have at the top the sentiment or battle-cry of the partisans whose leaders are named on the ballot, and a few of them were dated. Much research will be necessary, however, before they can all be placed in order with certainty. Those which contain the names of the successful candidates can be assigned to the proper year without great difficulty. It is not often as easy to be certain of the year in which those were circulated that contain names which were not chosen. The Rhode Island Historical Society possesses a large proportion, although probably not all, of these old election proxies, awaiting the attention of some investigator into the political byways of Colonial times.

Rhode-Island ALMANACK,

For the Year, 1728.

Being Bissextile, or Leap-Year.

Carefully fitted, and exact-calculated to the Meridian of NEWPORT on Rhode-Island; Whose Latitude North is 41 gr. 30 m. Longitude from London, 72 grs.

But may without sensible Error, serve all Parts of NEW-ENGLAND.

Being the first ever published for that Meridian

By Poor ROBIN.

NEWPORT. Printed and Sold by J. Franklin, at his Printing-House on Tillinghast's Wharf, near the Union-Flag Tavern 1728.

To my loving Countrymen in the Colony of Rhode-Island, &c.

I HAVING in my younger Years devoted some Leisure Hours to the Study of the Mathematicks, more especially that Part of it which led me to the Contemplation of the heavenly Bodies; and being now importuned by some Persons of Note in this Colony, I have here presented you with an Almanack for the ensuing Year, fitted to the Meridian of Newport; which contains the Fulls, Changes, and Quarters of the Moon, with her Passage through, and Dominion over the Body of Man and Beast, with her Rising and Setting, the rising and setting of the Sun, the Courts of this and the neighbouring Colonys, Judgment of the Weather, Spring Tides, and the exact Time of High Water in the Harbour of Newport. And for the sake of some who keep Days holy, and others who keep Holy-Days, I have inserted the Saint's Days, and other Holy-Days of the Church of England.

Tho' I have not given you my proper Name, yet I assure you I have had one the greatest part of half an hundred Years; and I know of no Necessity for parting with it at this Time, since I presume my Almanack will answer all the Ends design'd without that Expence. So, wishing you a happy new Year; bid you adieu.

Poor ROBIN.

Newport, Aug. 30. 1727.

VENUS is Morning Star until the 12*th* of August, then Evening Star to the Year's end.

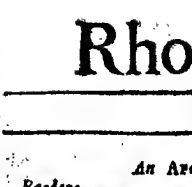
THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 23. 1732.

An APOLOGY.

Readers,



I AM sensible sundry Complaints have been made against my Paper, that it has hitherto been dull and flat, as the Man of Taste term it; for which I must confess there seems to be some Cause. But the World ought to view a Writer, at his first setting out, in the same Light, that a Company of Dancers wou'd a Musician who had undertaken to play for them upon a new made Instrument, that cou'd not be presently put in Tune, without the danger of being unstrung by too suddain a Screw. This wou'd produce Patience, and that Mosick. But there are besides many Physical Reasons why my Paper has turn'd out so better: Some of which, for the satisfaction of my Readers, I shall briefly mention.

I. As Man was originally form'd of the Ground, there seems to be some Analogy between the Fruits of the Earth and the Product of his Mind. Confine the Observation to Orchards and Vinyards, and you will find the first Fruits generally mean, withered and tasteless; the latter sound, fuller of Juice, and of a better Relish. So that notwithstanding I have pick'd up and presented my Readers with some premature Windfalls, there is no room to doubt, but that in a little Time they will be regaled with such intellectual Fruit as will be truly delightful to their Minds.

II. As the best Veins of Ore are ever attended with Heaps of Dirt and Rubbish, which must be first removed, so the intellectual Faculty, in its Research after speculative Knowledge, is oftentimes intercepted with Darkness and Obscurity: Which was my Case; but I hope is pretty well got thro' by the Help of CLEVERKIN and some other Friends.

III. I have been grievously seized with the late extraordinary Cold, which so took away the Gloss of my Stile, as well as obstructed my Thoughts, that I believe my Readers by this Piece perceive my Disorder, and that I am not altogether come to yet.

But (to make a small Digression) possibly in the End it may be for Advancement of Knowledge that this Calamity has attended us: For several noted Fiz-icians have promised to favour the Publick with a mechanical Account of it, and, thereby render it as plain and familiar as the late mechanical Account given of Fevers. One in particular avers it to be a very easy Task: For, says he, by shewing how the fine Particles of Matter, active in the Body, after an imperceptible manner are elevated; the Blood becomes faculent, and obstructed in its Circulation, and the Liquidum nervorum, dispersed thro'out the Canals, vitiated, it will be as easy to account for the Disorders produced, as to demonstrate the Truth of any Proposition in Euclid. But I shall stop here, and wait till this Matter be meta-fiz-ically handled by some of those learned Gentlemen within whose Verge it falls. To return,

IV. Self Interest, which is at the Bottom of most of the Actions of Life (altho' gilded over with other Pretences) prompted me to exceed my Brother News-writers in every Point. To accomplish this effectually, I began at that Part of my Business most natural, altho' not the least difficult; in which I have met with so great Assistance, that I hope I am not a whit above the lowest of them. What remains (to borrow a Thought from a noble Poet) is, To leave the humble Shrubs, with which all are not delighted, and soar a little higher; to whet up my Genius, and try if by the Acuteness of it I can penetrate some of the Works of Nature, some of the Devices of Men, lay open the Malignity and Folly of several Practices that are very Prevalent, and give some Reasons for Things, that never have been yet stumbl'd on.

V. The way and manner of Directing in Use among all my Correspondents runs, To the Author of the Rhode-Island Gazette; which I must acknowledge has hitherto been of Service, by carrying something of Dulness with it in the Front of the Paper: But as it is a Stile us'd by all my Brethren and their Correspondents, mutatis mutandis, and best serves a Purpose I have not at present in View, I shall take my leave of it, and assume the obsolete Name of Truman, which I believe few or none will claim; nor am I afraid that I shall herein be attack'd for invading any Man's Property at this Time of Day. And I hope all future Letters will be directed to me accordingly by my Correspondents.

VI. If any of my Brother News-writers think I have been too free with them; in answer to that, I say, they may take the same Liberty with me, if they acknowledge at the same Time they have the like Occasion; but not else.

Farewell.

Tim. Truman.

By the Honourable WILLIAM GREENE Esq; Governor and Commander in Chief, in and over His Majesty's Colony of Rhode-Island, and Providence-Plantations, in New-England.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS his Majesty has been pleased to order Five Battalions of his Forces from Europe to be joined with some other of his Regular Troops, at Louisbourg, to be employed in the speedy Reduction of Canada And hath signified his Pleasure to this, as well as his other Governments in North America, requiring also, that necessary Dispositions be speedily made, for raising as many Men in his said Governments in North America, as the Time will permit for the joining such Forces, and the better affecting the aforesaid important Purpose And for the greater Encouragement of his Subjects to enter upon this Expedition, hath been pleased to order, that both Officers and Soldiers that immediately enter into his Service shall have and receive his Pay from the Time of their engaging therein, and that they shall come in for a Share of all the Booty to be taken from the Enemy, and be sent back to their respective Habitations as soon as the Service shall be over, unless any of Them shall desire to settle elsewhere; And that they shall be under the Command of Officers from their respective Governments from which They came; And that Care be taken that They be provided with Arms, and Cloathing And the Honourable the General Assembly of said Colony, having taken into Consideration, That the Reduction of Canada is of vast Importance to the Interest and Welfare of all his Majesty's Colonies and Subjects in North America, and the only Method Providence seems to point out for the putting an End to the Inhumane Depredations daily committed by a Barbarous People, that have been continually push'd on by a designing Nation, open Enemies to his Majesty and his Subjects, and what wou'd be a great Addition to his Majesty's Dominions in America, and settle Peace there to Posterity, and being Willing to join in this so gracious a Purpose of our Sovereign, have ordered and resolved, That for the Encouragement of all able Bodied Men that are willing to enlist into his Majesty's Service in the aforesaid Expedition, there be granted to each Soldier, the Sum of Fifty Pounds in Bills of Credit of the old Tenor, as a Free Bounty from this Colony, and that they shall, every Man, pursuant to his Majesty's Directions, be furnished with Arms, and shall have freely given Them a Suit of new Cloaths And,

For the Encouragement of all such Persons, as shall enlist on board the Colony Sloop, Tartar, (ordered on said Expedition) the Wages of each Man, being a Sailor, shal be augmented to Twelve Pounds per Month, and other Men to Ten Pounds per Month; and each Person enlisting on board said Sloop for the Service aforesaid, shall have Ten Pounds Bounty, each, in Bills of the old Tenor: And that all and every Person enlisting as aforesaid, be exempted from all Writs of Arrest and Executions against their Persons or Estates, for any Sum, not exceeding Two Hundred Pounds in Bills of the old Tenor, and from all such Prosecutions (Charges for Criminal Facts only excepted,) and their Bail also, in all such Cases shall be acquitted and discharged. And that They themselves shall, in case they proceed on said Expedition, be exempted from all Impressments to any Military Service, for the space of Two Years after their Return.

I do Therefore, hereby, with the Advice of the Council, and at the Request of the House of Deputies, Issue forth this Proclamation for the making known his Majesty's Pleasure herein, and the publishing to all his Majesty's Subjects the aforesaid Encouragement, declared by his Majesty, and the Bounty and Reward, and Immunities granted by the Honourable Assembly, Earnestly recommending to the Inhabitants of the Government, and all others therein, to give all due Assistance and Encouragement to a Matter of so great Importance to their King, and to their Country, and to Themselves, and to their Posterity; hereby giving all possible Assurance, That the Encouragements, Bounties and Immunities herein before mentioned, and all other Things shall be duly kept up to, for the Advantage of all Persons enlisting

Given at Newport in the Colony aforesaid, the Fourth Day of June, in the Nineteenth Year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord GEORGE the Second, by the Grace of God of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, KING, Defender of the Faith, &c Annoq: Domini, 1746.

By Order of his Honour the Governor,
James Martin Secretary.

Notice is hereby given to the Curious,

That at the COURT-HOUSE, in the Council-Chamber, is now to be exhibited, and continued from Day to Day, for a Week or two,

A COURSE of EXPERIMENTS, on the newly-discovered

Electrical FIRE.

Containing; not only the most curious of those that have been made and published in Europe, but a considerable Number of new Ones lately made in Philadelphia, to be accompanied with methodical LECTURES on the Nature and Properties of that wonderful Element.

By Ebenezer Kinnersley.

LECTURE I.

I. OF Electricity in General, giving some Account of the Discovery of it.

II. That the Electric Fire is a real Element, and different from those heretofore known and named, and exists out of other Matter (not created) by the Friction of Glass, &c.

III. That it is an extreamly subtile Fluid.

IV. That it doth not take up any perceptible Time in passing thro' large Portions of Space.

V. That it is intimately mixed with the Substance of all the Solid and Liquid Bodies of our Globe.

VI. That our Bodies at all Times contain enough of it to set a House on Fire.

VII. That tho' it will fire inflammable Matters, itself has no sensible Heat.

VIII. That it differs from common Matter, in that its Parts do not mutually attract, but equally repel each other.

IX. That it is strongly attracted by all other Matter.

X. An artificial Spider, animated by the Electric Fire, so as to act like a live One.

XI. A Shower of Sand, which rises again as fast as it falls.

XII. That common Matter in the form of Points attracts this Fire more strongly than in any other Form.

XIII. A Leaf of the most weighty of Metals suspended in the Air, as is said of Mahomet's Tomb.

XIV. An Appearance like Fishes swimming in the Air.

XV. That this Fire will live in Water, a River not being sufficient to quench the smallest Spark of it.

XVI. A Representation of the Sensitive Plant.

XVII. A Representation of the seven Planets, shewing a probable Cause of their keeping their due Distances from each other, and from the Sun in the Center.

XVIII. The Salute repulsed by the Ladies Fire; or Fire darting from a Ladies Lips, so that she may defy any Person to salute her.

XIX. Eight musical Bells rung by an electrified Phial of Water.

XX. A Battery of eleven Guns discharged by Fire issuing out of a Person's Finger.

LECTURE II.

I. A Description and Explanation of Mr. Musschenbroek's wonderful Bottle.

II. The amazing Force of the Electric Fire in passing thro' a Number of Bodies at the same Instant.

III. An electric Mine sprung.

IV. Electrified Money, which scarce any Body will take when offered to them.

V. A Piece of Money drawn out of a Person's Mouth in Spite of his Teeth, yet without touching it, or offering him the least Violence.

VI. Spirits kindled by Fire darting from a Lady's Face (of a new Manufacture).

VII. Various Representations of Lightning, the Cause and Effects of which will be explained by a more probable Hypothesis than has hitherto appeared, and some useful Instructions given, how to avoid the Danger of it: How to secure Houses, Ships, &c. from being hurt by its destructive Violence.

VIII. The Force of the Electric Spark, making a fair Hole thro' a Quire of Paper.

IX. Metal melted by it (glowing hotter any Heat) in less than a thousandth Part of a Minute.

X. Animals killed by it painlessly.

XI. Air issuing out of a Bladder set on Fire by a Spark from a Person's Finger, and burning like a Volcano.

XII. A few Drops of electrified cold Water let fall on a Person's Hand, supplying him with Fire sufficient to kindle a burning Flame with one of the Fingers of his other Hand.

XIII. A Sulphurous Vapour kindled into Flame by Fire issuing out of a cold Apple.

XIV. A curious Machine acting by means of the Electric Fire, and playing Variety of Tunes on eight musical Bells.

XV. A Battery of eleven Guns discharged by a Spark, after it has passed through ten Foot of Water.

As the Knowledge of Nature tends to enlarge the human Mind, and give us more noble, more grand, and exalted Ideas of the Attributes of Nature, and if until pursued, seldom fails producing something useful to Man, 'tis hoped these Lectures may be thought worthy of Regard & Encouragement.

NUMB. I.

NEWPORT MERCURY;

OR,

THE

Weekly Advertiser;

With the freshest Advices foreign and domestic.

MONDAY, JUNE 19. 1758.

THE Advantage and Utility of a NEWS PAPER to the Public, is so obvious, that it requires little to be said to recommend a Thing of the Kind. And as the Publication of a Paper in this Colony, has been long wish'd for, and frequently requested, 'tis proposed to publish one weekly, on every Monday, at the moderate Consideration of one Dollar a Year, so long as the present Size of this Paper is continued (or Lawful Money or Old-Tenor equivalent) to each Subscriber.

AND the Public may be assur'd, that no Party Dispute will ever have a Place in this Paper: But in a Dearth of News, which in this remote Part of the World may sometimes reasonably be expected, whatever may be presented, which will promote the Interest of this Colony, and tend to make us a more virtuous, a more flourishing, and a more happy People, will chearfully be inserted.

AND as all the earliest Advices which may be contained in other Papers, cannot at all Times be inserted in this, care will be taken to collect from them, what may appear to be most material, for the Readers of this Paper.

AND it must appear unnecessary, to say any Thing relating to the Advantage which will accrue to the trading Part of this Colony, in having the Benefit of a public Paper to insert Advertisements, as the Example of our neighbouring Governments, where Papers are publish'd, is a convincing Proof of its general Service in that Respect.

AND for the more expeditious and easy Conveyance of this Paper to the several Towns in this Colony, this Method will be taken; to send all the Papers belonging to each respective Town, with the Name of each Subscriber wrote thereon, under Cover, and directed to some proper Person, residing where it will be attended with the least Difficulty to the Inhabitants in receiving them, which they will be the best Judges of; and a Paper will be sent gratis to every such Person, for his Trouble and Care in delivering them.

AND as every Objection would willingly be remov'd, which may arise with respect to this Paper, in its first Publication; therefore, if it should be said, that the Size is much smaller than those at present publish'd in Philadelphia, New-York, and Boston, let it be consider'd, that the Price is also less in Proportion, and that even in those large Places, with Provinces extensive and populous, the Papers publish'd amongst them, in their infancy contain'd no more than what might be comprised in half a Sheet; but as the Number of Subscribers and Advertisements increas'd, their Papers were enlarg'd in Proportion. And if it should likewise be said, that what is contain'd in this Paper, is somewhat stale before publish'd—it must be acknowledg'd, that with Respect to Newport and Providence, who have the Advantage of a very early Intelligence, it will undoubtedly be so; but this ought also to be consider'd, that the Inhabitants who reside at a Distance from those two Towns, cannot have an Opportunity to be so immediately and properly acquainted therewith.

AND tho' the Number of Subscribers, at the Commencement of this Paper, is far from being adequate to the Expence and Trouble which must consequently be devoted to that service; yet it is not doubted, but that the Inhabitants of this Colony will chearfully promote an Undertaking of this Kind.

THERE was Reason to believe, that this Paper would, at this Time, have been introduc'd to the Public with new Character, as Part of a new Printing-Office from London, had been contracted for, by the Printer hereof, principally for that Purpose, which may daily be expected; therefore 'tis hop'd these will be dispens'd with till its Arrival.

The Earl of Leicester Packet, Capt. Morris, ship arrived at New-York from Falmouth, brought the following such Advices

From Prince Ferdinand's Head Quarters at Munster, April 8.

The Castle of Vechte has surrendered by Capitulation within these few Days. It was besieged by a Captain with a Detachment of 150 Men from Bremen. The Garrison consisted of 3 Companies, but what will hardly be credited, is, that upwards of 100 Pieces of Cannon and Mortars were found in the Place.

Lunenburg (in Germany) March 22. The King of Prussia, who arrived here the 13th, set out the 19th for Crossen, where the Head Quarters of his Army will be established To-morrow.

Dantzick (Capital of Regal Prussia, in the Kingdom of Poland) March 26. Upon Advice that a large Body of Prussian Troops, reinforced to the greatest Part of the Garrison of Stettin, were actually towards the Russians, in order to give them Battle, several Detachments of the Troops, that were left behind, received Orders to join the main Body of their Army. Five or six Thousand Russians have passed the Vistula, and observe the Motions of their Enemies. It does not yet seem to be decided whether the whole Army shall cross that River.

Prague (Capital of Bohemia) March 29. The Prussians pushs the Siege of Schweidnitz with the utmost Vigour, Marshal Daun being upon the Marsh to relieve it; and as the King is coming at the Head of his Army to meet Marshal Daun, we expect almost every Moment to hear the News of a bloody Battle.

Dresden, March 27. 'Tis still said, that the Motions of Marshal Keith tend to make an Invasion in Bohemia, in order to favour the Projects which the King of Prussia is going to execute either against Bohemia or Moravia.

LONDON,

April 8. The last Letters from Dresden say, that the Prussians are already in Action on every Side. Prince Henry of Prussia acts against the Army of Execution, and Marshal Keith has taken the Command of the Army in Pomerania against the Swedes and Russians.

The French having been disappointed in their attempt to get thro' the Straights of Gibraltar, by the preventing the junction of Du Quesne and De la Clue's Squadron, it is said the Brest Fleet, consisting of 26 Ships of the line, after being manned with all the hands from the privateers, and the deficiency made up with land men, are determined to come out to save Cape Breton; and if they meet Admiral Hawke, to attack him; and as Adm. Hawke's Fleet consists of only about 17 sail, several ships have been sent to join him from Spithead and Plymouth, to enable him to stop their voyage.

Admiralty-Office, April 11.

Extract of a letter from Admiral Osborne to Mr. [illegible] secretary of the admiralty, dated on board his ma[illegible] Princess, at sea, March 12, 1758.

"On the 28th of last month, between Cape de Gate and Carthagena, I fell in with M. du Quesne, in the Foudroyant of 80, the Orpheus of 64, the Guillaume of 50, and the Pleiade of 24 guns, which were the four ships sent from Toulon to reinforce M. de la Clue at Carthagena. On their seeing my squadron, they immediately dispersed, and steered different courses; on which I detached Ships after each of them, whilst with the main body of my squadron I stood off the bay of Carthagena, to watch their squadron there; and about seven in the evening, Capt. Storr, in the Revenge of 64, supported by Capt Hughes in the Berwick of 64, and Capt. [illegible] in the

PROVIDENCE GAZETTE; AND COUNTRY JOURNAL.

Containing the freshest Advices, both Foreign and Domestic.

WEDNESDAY, October 20, 1762. [Vol. 1]

Printing-Office, Providence, October 20, 1762.

To the PUBLIC.

THROUGH the generous and independent Assistance of many Gentlemen in this Colony, the PROVIDENCE GAZETTE and COUNTRY JOURNAL is able to make it's Appearance to the World, agreeable to my Proposals which demands my most grateful Acknowledgments.——

After what has been already [illegible] in Favor of the Printing-Business and the Gift [illegible] Advantages of Performances of [illegible] Nature, in a mercantile Colony, it would seem impertinent in me to attempt making any Illustration to what is to [illegible] Public knows and acknowledges, especially to a People, who by their Conduct, have made themselves eminent for [illegible] spirit, and a laudable Zeal and Ambition to promote every Branch of Business, that might be any Way conducive to the Interest of their Country. But [illegible] be in a Place [illegible] Foremost Authors of every Denomination, from the [illegible] celebrated Writers, even [illegible] a common News-Paper, to usher in their Productions to the World [illegible] Preface or Introduction, [illegible] recommendations of their Excellencies, or to soften Censure by applying for the [illegible] Defects, it seems [illegible] Epitome; in some Measure, follow this Example, to excuse the [illegible] Circumstances of this Beginning [illegible] Publick with the Plan I purpose to pursue in the Execution of my Design; and as a [illegible] the Performance will be it's best Recommendation, I shall [illegible] the Censure or Applause it may receive, to the Judgment of the Reader; who, I hope, will think with Candor, and decide [illegible] such Humanity.

As every considerate Mind is solicitous to know the State [illegible] the World about him, and the Circumstances of the Contemporary Nations joint Inhabitants of the Universe with him, so it may [illegible] rational Satisfaction, to be acquainted from Time to Time, with the Events and important Transactions in the different Quarters of the Globe; and as we are engaged in a [illegible] and successful War against two faithless Nations, and all [illegible] seem to be in one general Ferment, every Thing [illegible] relative to the Honour and Interest of our Country, and the Hu[illegible]ion of our Enemies, must be peculiarly interesting, and as such, they shall be carefully inserted in this Paper. It would [illegible] ridiculous to publish more in a New-Paper [illegible] as proper or possible it should contain; but thus far I am engaged [illegible] without an Imputation of Vanity, that no Pains shall be wanting to render it as entertaining and as generally useful as possible [illegible] for which Purpose, I have published an extensive Correspondence, and shall receive the freshest and most important Intelligence from foreign Parts, and all [illegible] Domestic Occurrences, that shall [illegible] [illegible] Church of [illegible] [illegible] may [illegible] [illegible] of Learning and Ingenuity, [illegible] may think proper to favour me with; and shall pay all the Regard to their Compositions, consistent with [illegible] Determinations of avoiding any Controversy that may create Disturbances in the Government.

As the Prosecution of my Design will be attended with great Expence, and the Price of this Gazette is [illegible] small, (being only Seven Shillings Lawful Money per Annum, or Equivalent in Old Tenor,) the Continuance of publishing [illegible] depends upon the further Encouragement it meets with, and such Persons as incline to become Subscribers, are requested to [illegible] specify in their Application, that a Judgment may be formed what Number it will be necessary to print; as it is [illegible] every Subscriber will choose to begin with the first Number, in order to preserve the Collection complete.

By the Advice of several Gentlemen, I have concluded to alter the Time of Publication, from Wednesday Morning to Saturday Afternoon, (to commence on the 30th Instant,) that the Gentlemen in Newport, and other Towns in the South Part of this Government, or in Connecticut, who shall please to favour this Undertaking, may receive their Papers by Post. And as it will contain all the Western Advices, which will be published immediately after their Arrival, and [illegible] containing every Thing material from the Eastward, it is presumed every Well-wisher to this Colony will prefer it, [illegible] each small Deficiencies, to a foreign [illegible]

If any other Scheme can be [illegible] to make this Paper more beneficial, I should be extremely obliged to any Gentlemen for such Hints, and [illegible] no Trouble or Expence, in my Power, in making the best Use of [illegible] Information.——Subscriptions are [illegible] in by Darius Sessions, Henry Pope, Samuel Cheese, and Barnes Preston, Esqrs. Mr. Olyphant, Bookseller; Mr. Ebenezer Thompson, Mr. Knight Dexter, Mr. Benjamin Wall, Mr. Joseph Lamprey, and by the Publisher.

Obliged humble Servant,

WILLIAM GODDARD.

N. B. Where there are a Number of Subscribers belonging to the same Town, their Papers shall all be inclosed, folded up together, and [illegible] Post-Office, they are to be sent, and the Postmaster [illegible] in Full Town, where they are to be left; and full Papers shall be [illegible] Orders, [illegible] with each Person or Persons to pay Town of Providence, as the major Part of the Subscribers shall agree.——All Orders kept from Gentlemen in the Country, will be carefully observed and punctually executed.

The Planting and Growth of PROVIDENCE.

THE publick Disputes that raged in England, both in Church and State, in the Reigns of King James the First, and King Charles the First, although they were the immediate Occasion of their Settlement in the Kingdom, in the Time they happened, [illegible] they also the Means, [illegible] of very [illegible] All outrage to the Laws of Nature, [illegible] which Advantage [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] of the Publick Interest, [illegible] any be well [illegible] of the said Establishment.

The first Planting of New-England was begun by Mr. John Carver, and about 100 other English Subjects, who, being persecuted in England for not conforming to every Punctilio in the Established Church, for the Ease of worshipping God according to their Consciences, left their native Country, with all it's Conveniences and Delights, and arrived at Cape Cod in the Month of December in the Year 1620, where they landed in the Region of Winter, having no Houses or Shelter to cover them from the Injuries of the Weather, exposed to miserable Hardships, and pinched through poverty and Sufferings; and, supported only by the Exalted Fortitude of Mind, and the Confidence of a just Duty, they patiently endured the Hardships of a Wilderness, the fate of the New-England Colonies.

Next to a Year afterwards, to the Year 1630, Mr. John Winthrop, with many other Gentlemen and about 1200 People, left their native Country for the same Cause, and came over first to Salem, and from thence to Charlestown, from whence they dispersed themselves to Dorchester, Roxbury, and Boston, and effectually laid the Foundations of the Massachusetts, &c. the second of the New-England Colonies.

With this second Colony came over Mr. Roger Williams, of whose Life before his coming to America we know little more, than that he had a Place of Education given him at Pembroke Hall, in Cambridge, England; [illegible] Chaplain to Sir Richard Coke, the Lawyer; [illegible] from his coming to Salem, he [illegible] Affection to the Ministry to the Church of England, [illegible] Minister of that Church, [illegible] long [illegible] between [illegible] Government, [illegible] Court, with a Number of the [illegible]

1. RHETORICA est ars, mores & passiones naturæ hominum optimè exprimendi.
2. Studium propriietatis, perspicuitatis et dignitatis, ad compositionis elegantiam, multum conducit.
3. Interpunctio, ab origine, non est naturæ compositionis. Ergo,
4. Vox, in legendo, per puncta non sit modulanda.
5. Summa perfectio artis oratoriæ ex omnibus passionibus recte exprimendis, maximè pendet. Ergo,
6. Orator, cujus affectiones facillime commoveantur, (cæteris paribus) optimus est. Ergo,
7. Studium naturæ ad acquirendam hanc artem, valde necessarium est.
8. Ars rhetorica, nisi per vocem vivam, accurate doceri non potest.

LOGICA.

1. LOGICA est ars bene ratiocinandi, causâ veritatem investigandi aliisque communicandi.
2. Cognitio sophismatum, falsum a vero distinguere, et bene ratiocinari, necessaria est.
3. In idemtum successione, nullus intervallum inter ideam recepiam, et ideam proximè recipiendam, concipi potest.
4. Ideæ incorporeæ non minus quam corporeæ clarè sunt.
5. Ideas positivas, ideis negativis antecedere necesse est.
6. Sunt multæ veritates, quæ demonstrari nequeunt.
7. Modi et figuræ ad bene ratiocinandum, non prorsus sunt necessarii.
8. Omnia argumenta ad primam figuram reduci possunt. Ergo,
9. Aliæ figuræ necessariæ non sunt.
10. Miracula excitasse ex humano testimonio certi fieri possumus.
11. Pauca tantum synthetica methodo probanda sunt.

MATHESIS.

1. MATHESIS in numeris computandis & quantitate mensurandâ versatur.
2. Si numerus a numero æqualiter dividi potest, sic et ab ejus partibus aliquotis dividi queat.
3. Dato numero in duas partes ignotas diviso, differentia quoque data, singulæ partes facillime inveniantur.
4. Nullus numerus sic dividi potest, ut unius partis quadratum toti in altero industo, erit æquale. E. II. 11.
5. Quadratum negativum in rerum natura esse non potest.
6. Omnibus angulis trianguli isosceli ignotis, proportio erit, ut summa omnium laterum ad summam omnium angulorum, ita unum latus ad angulum oppositum.
7. Vere præcidabilia de aliquibus figuris geometricis demonstrationem non admittunt.
8. Una quantitas infinita, multas quantitates infinitas continere potest. Ergo,
9. Inter quantitates infinitas ad infinitum datur comparatio.
10. Cylindri sunt inter se, ut quadrata diametrorum in altitudines ducta.
11. Sinus versus, cujusvis arcus ductus in dimidium radii æqualis est quadrato sinus dimidii ejusdem arcus.
12. Ut transversus diameter ellipseos ad conjugatum, sic area circuli, cujus diameter, diametro ellipseos transverso æqualis est ad aream ellipseos.
13. Arcæ duarum hyperbolarum quibus idem est transversus, sunt ut conjugati.
14. Æqualia inter se sunt omnia parallelogrammata, eosdem diametros hyperbolæ circumscribentia.

PHYSICA.

1. PHYSICA phænomina naturæ describit, atque perfectamathesi et experimentis, causas explorat.
2. Attractia cohæsionis in vacuo non diminuitur.
3. Electricum fluidum per brevissimam viam (cæteris paribus) semper transit.
4. Aurora borealis per electricitatem optimè explicatur.
5. Vegetatio, vi electricitatis, augetur.
6. Minima particula materiæ per maximum datum spatium ita diffundatur, ut recta linea ejus partes connectens, minima data recta linea minor sit.
7. Vapores lethales per ignem particulas in terra causâ fiunt. Attamen,
8. Aer adustus per ignem purificari potest.
9. Solida in fluidis secundum magnitudines solum allevantur. Ergo,
10. Corpora magnitudinum æquealium quæ in medio rapore in æquilibrio sunt, in altero gravitatis specifice diversæ positæ, in æquilibrio non remanebunt.
11. Corpori, per varia plana conjuncta descendenti, in absoluto planii puncto, eadem velocitas non est, ut, eidem descendenti eundem perpendicularem altitudinem, esse.
12. In Cœlo sereno heterogeneis particulis abundat aer, ex solidis generatus, in humido, ex fluidis. Ergo,
13. Hic gravior, ille levior.
14. Omnibus sonis, cujuscunque intensitatis, eadem est velocitas.
15. Sudio in rerum natura non datur.
16. Causa reflectionis luciis adhuc latet.
17. Medium rarius transmittendum lucis plus quam densius impedit.
18. Si objectorum imagines externorum in retina depictæ sunt, necesse est ut inversæ sint.
19. Tempus naturali motu ullius corporis æqualiter dividi, non potest.
20. Sol minus affatus in linea ecliptica revolvens, quam si in linea æquatoria semper mansisset, terræ præbet.
21. Unaquæque planeta centrum sibi solum proprium circumvolvit.
22. Luna in revolutione circa terram accelerat. Ergo,
23. Luna ad terram appropinquat.
24. Obliquitas lineæ ecliptiæ est maxima, cum nodus lunæ ascendens in ariete est, et minima in libra. Ergo,
25. Præcessio Æquinoctiorum in cyclo lunari variantur.
26. Lunæ ecliptiæ planum ad lineæ æquatoriæ planum vergit.
27. Eclipses soli frequentiores accidunt quam lunæ; sed, eclipses lunæ extentius videantur.

ONTOLOGIA.

1. ONTOLOGIA enumeratem ejusque proprietates simpliciter cum implaqur.
2. Nullum ens ipsum creare potest. Ergo,
3. Deus non est creatum.
4. Unum subsistantum omni materiæ commune accidit.
5. Omnis causa suum consequet effectum.
6. Idea relationis, in natura, archetypum non habet.
7. Principium individuationis, in corporibus, ad præsens tempus omnino refert.

PNEUMATOLOGIA.

1. PNEUMATOLOGIA est tractatus ubi verba de spiritibus fiunt.
2. An existant spiritus, nullis corporibus juncti, ex revelatione solum cognosci potest.
3. Spiritibus per se considerata nullum est ubi.
4. Angeli possitatem materiam movendi naturâ non habent.
5. Voluntati competit libertas.
6. Spiritus de partibus non constant. Ergo,
7. Naturâ sua sunt immortales.
8. Materia cogitare non potest.

THEOLOGIA.

1. THEOLOGIA, quodcunque notum fieri potest de Deo, atque ejus voluntate erga nos, explicat.
2. Deus esse potest. Ergo,
3. EST.
4. Nihil, ut a Deo veniat, propensionem ad malum habere potest.
5. Peccatum originale imputari nequit, donec supplicium personæ sit. Ergo,
6. Post animi unionem cum corpore, imputatur.
7. Lux naturæ hominem pravatum esse arguit.
8. Regeneratio, ex opera creaturæ, nihil pendet. Tamen,
9. In divina impressione recipienda, mens est activa.
10. Præscientia Dei decretum implicat.

12. Angeli beati, per electionem in Christo, confirmati fuerunt.
13. Animalia pro cibo, Antediluviana non data fuerunt.

ETHICA.

1. ETHICA est scientia practica ad felicitatem hominis per virtutem adhibenda.
2. Moralis obligatio ex Dei voluntate solum pendet.
3. Inter bonum & malum, lex naturæ nos distinguere docet. Ergo,
4. Nemo sine incitamento unquam agit.
5. Contra voluntonem, nemo unquam agit.
6. Nulla passio, in sua natura considerata est vitiosa.
7. Nemo malum, ut malum, petit. Ergo,
8. Ultum, damnationem suam velle juri naturæ oppugnat.

Undaunted by TYRANTS,------We'll DIE or be FREE.

Printed by SOLOMON SOUTHWICK, in Queen-Street.

BOSTON, March 12.

TUESDAY morning (last) presented a most shocking scene, the blood of our fellow citizens running like water thro' King-Street, & the merchants exchange the principal spot of the military parade for about 18 months past. Our blood might also be track'd up to the head of long-lane, and through divers other streets and passages.

At eleven o'clock the inhabitants met at Faneuil-Hall, and after some animated speeches becoming the occasion, they chose a committee of 15 respectable gentlemen to wait upon the Lieut. Governour in Council, to request of him to issue his orders for the immediate removal of the troops.

The message was in these words:

THAT it is the unanimous opinion of this meeting that the inhabitants and soldiery can no longer live together in safety; that nothing can rationally be expected to restore the peace of the town and prevent further blood & carnage, but the immediate removal of the troops; and that we therefore most fervently pray his Honor that his power and influence may be exerted for their instant removal.

His Honor's reply, which was laid before the town then adjourn'd to the Old South Meeting-House, was as follows:

Gentlemen,

I AM extremely sorry for the unhappy difference between the inhabitants and troops, and especially for the action of the last evening; and I have exerted myself upon that occasion that a due enquiry may be made, and that the law may have its course. I have in council consulted with the commanding officers of the two regiments who are in the town. They have their orders from the General at New-York. It is not in my power to countermand those orders. The Council have desired that the two regiments may be removed to the Castle. From the particular concern which the 29th regiment has had in your differences, Col. Dalrymple who is the commanding officer of the troops has signified that that regiment shall without delay be placed in the barracks at the Castle until he can send to the General and receive his further orders concerning both the regiments, and that the main guard shall be removed, and the 14th regiment so disposed and laid under such restraint that all occasion of future disturbances may be prevented.

The foregoing reply having been read and fully considered—the question was put, whether the report be satisfactory? passed in the negative, (only 1 dissentient,) out of upwards of 4000 voters.

It was then moved and voted John Hancock, Esq; Mr. Samuel Adams, Mr. William Molineux, William Phillips, Esq; Dr. Joseph Warren, Joshua Henshaw, Esq; and Samuel Pemberton, Esq; be a committee to wait on his Honour the Lieut. Governor, and inform him, that it is the unanimous opinion of this meeting, that the reply made to a vote of the inhabitants presented his Honor in the morning, is by no means satisfactory; and that nothing less will satisfy, than a total and immediate removal of all the troops.

The Committee having waited upon the Lieut. Governor agreeable to the foregoing vote, laid before the inhabitants the following vote of Council received from his Honor.

His Honor the Lieut. Governor laid before the board a vote of the town of Boston, passed this afternoon, and then addressed the board as follows,

Gentlemen of the Council,

"I lay before you a vote of the town of Boston, which I have just now received from them, and I now ask your advice what you judge necessary to be done upon it."

The Council thereupon expressed themselves to be unanimously of opinion, "that it was absolutely necessary for his Majesty's service, the good order of the town, and the peace of the province, that the troops should be immediately removed out of the town of Boston, and thereupon advised his Honor to communicate this advice of the Council to Col. Dalrymple, and to pray that he would order the troops down to Castle-William." The Committee also informed the town, that Col. Dalrymple, after having seen the vote of Council, said to the Committee, "That he now gave his word of honor that he would begin his preparations in the morning, and that there should be no unnecessary delay until the whole of the two regiments were removed to the Castle."

Upon the above report being read, the inhabitants could not avoid expressing the high satisfaction it afforded them.

After measures were taken for the security of the town in the night by a strong military watch, the meeting was dissolved.

The 29th regiment have already left us, and the 14th regiment are following them, so that we expect the town will soon be clear of all the troops. The wisdom and true policy of his Majesty's Council and Col. Dalrymple the commander appear in this measure. Two regiments in the midst of this populous city; and the inhabitants justly incensed: Those of the neighbouring towns actually under arms upon the first report of the massacre, and the signal only wanting to bring in a few hours to the gates of this city many thousands of our brave brethren in the country, deeply affected with our distresses, and to whom we are greatly obliged on this occasion—No one knows where this would have ended, and what important consequences even to the whole British Empire might have followed, which our moderation and loyalty upon so trying an occasion, and our faith in the commander's assurances have happily prevented.

Last Thursday, agreeable to a general request of the inhabitants, and by the consent of parents and friends, were carried to their grave in succession, the bodies of Samuel Gray, Samuel Maverick, James Caldwell, and Crispus Attucks, the unhappy victims who fell in the bloody massacre of the Monday evening preceeding!

On this occasion most of the shops in town were shut, all the bells were ordered to toll a solemn peal, as were also those in the neighbouring towns of Charlestown, Roxbury, &c. The procession began to move between the hours of 4 and 5 in the afternoon; two of the unfortunate sufferers viz. Mess. James Caldwell and Crispus Attucks, who were strangers, borne from Faneuil-Hall, attended by a numerous train of persons of all ranks; and the other two, viz. Mr. Samuel Gray, from the house of Mr. Benjamin Gray, (his brother) on the north-side the Exchange, and Mr. Maverick, from the house of his distressed mother Mrs. Mary Maverick, in Union-Street, each followed by their respective relations and friends: The several hearses forming a junction in King-street, the theatre of that inhuman tragedy! proceeded from thence through the main street, lengthened by an immense concourse of people, so numerous as to be obliged to follow in ranks of six, and brought up by a long train of carriages belonging to the principal gentry of the town. The bodies were deposited in one vault in the middle burying-ground: The aggravated circumstances of their death, the distress and sorrow visible in every countenance, together with the peculiar solemnity with which the whole funeral was conducted, surpass description.

A military watch has been kept every night at the town-house and prison, in which many of the most respectable gentlemen of the town have appeared as the common soldier, and night after night have given their attendance.

A servant boy of one Manwaring the tide-waiter from Quebec is now in gaol, having deposed that himself, by the order and encouragement of his superiors had discharged a musket several times from one of the windows of the house in King-street, hired by the Commissioners and Custom-House Officers to do their business in; more than one other person swore upon oath, that they apprehended several discharges came from that quarter—it is not improbable that we may soon be able to account for the assassination of Mr. Otis some time past; the message by Wilmot, who came from the same house to the infamous Richardson before his firing the gun which kill'd young Snider, and to open such a scene of villainy acted by a dirty banditti, as must astonish the public.

It is supposed that there must have been a greater number of people from town and country at the funeral of those who were massacred by the soldiers, than were ever together on this continent on any occasion.

A more dreadful tragedy has been acted by the soldiery in King-street, Boston, New-England, than was sometime since exhibited in St. George's Field, London, in Old England, which may serve instead of beacons for both countries.

Among other matters in the warrant for the annual town-meeting this day, is the following clause, viz. "Whether the town will take any measures that a public monument may be erected on the spot where the late tragical scene was acted, as a memento to posterity, of that horrid massacre, and the destructive consequences of military troops being quartered in a well regulated city."

We hear from Marblehead, that one Timothy Curtis, was found dead, hanging by the neck, in one of the rooms of his house. The jury of inquest's verdict was, self murder. He had a numerous family of children, and was very poor; but what induced him to commit this shocking and unnatural act, is not known.

Saturday last a man's great coat was taken out of the water near one of the wharves in Charlestown; it appears by some papers which were found in the pocket, that it belonged to one John Smith, of Newport, Rhode-Island, who, tis apprehended, is drowned.

Boston-Gaol, Monday, 12th March, 1770.

Messieurs Edes & Gill,

PERMIT me through the channel of your Paper, to return my thanks in the most public manner to the inhabitants in general of this town—who throwing aside all party and prejudice, have with the utmost humanity and freedom stept forth advocates for truth, in defence of my injured innocence, in the late unhappy affair that happened on Monday night last: And to assure them, that I shall ever have the highest sense of the justice they have done me, which will be ever gratefully remembered, by

Their much obliged and most obedient humble servant,

THOMAS PRESTON.

To the King's most excellent Majesty in council,
The PETITION of Sir Francis Bernard, Bart. Governor of the province of Massachusetts-Bay,
Humbly sheweth,

THAT your Majesty's petitioner having receiv'd notice from the office of one of your Majesty's principal secretaries of state, that a remonstrance of the House of Representatives of the said province, containing divers charges against your Majesty's petitioner, has been presented to your Majesty by the agent of the said House, and now lies before your Majesty in your privy council, most humbly implores that your Majesty will be graciously pleased to order an early day for the hearing the examination of several articles of charge against your petitioner; for although the said House of Representatives had the injustice to deny your petitioner a copy of the said remonstrance when it passed that house some time before the 15th day of July, and your petitioner was not able to obtain such copy till the 27th day of that month, only three days before your petitioner embarked for England, thereby evidently intending to prevent your petitioner from procuring such evidence of the falsity of such complaints as might be necessary for his justification, yet your Majesty's humble petitioner has no doubt that he shall be well able to manifest to your Majesty's satisfaction, by the help of such papers as are now in his possession, and may be obtained from your Majesty's offices here, the falsity and malice of the charges alledged against him.

And your petitioner as in duty bound shall ever pray, &c. FRA. BERNARD.

[We are authoris'd to assure the public, that a copy of the remonstrance refer'd to in the above-mention'd petition, NEVER was denied to Governor Bernard by the House of Representatives——That after the general assembly was prorogued, and not before, the Governor sent a message to the clerk of the House, desiring a copy of the remonstrance; and the same day it was made out and deliver'd to the gentleman whom the Governor directed to receive it.]

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS on Tuesday, the ninth Instant in the Night, a Number of People, unknown, boarded His Majesty's armed Schooner the Gaspee, as she lay aground on a Point of Land, called Nanquit, a little to the southward of Pawtuxet, in the Colony aforesaid, who dangerously wounded Lieutenant William Dudingston the Commander, and by Force took him with all his People, put them into Boats, and landed them near Pawtuxet; and afterwards set Fire to the said Schooner, whereby she was entirely destroyed:

I HAVE, therefore, thought fit, by and with the Advice of such of His Majesty's Council, as could be seasonably convened, to issue this Proclamation, strictly charging and commanding all His Majesty's Officers within the said Colony, both Civil and Military, to exert themselves with the utmost Vigilance, to discover and apprehend the Persons guilty of the aforesaid atrocious Crime, that they may be brought to condign Punishment. And I do hereby offer a Reward of ONE HUNDRED POUNDS, Sterling Money of Great-Britain, to any Person or Persons who shall discover the Perpetrators of the said Villainy, to be paid immediately upon the Conviction of any one or more of them.

AND the several Sheriffs in the said Colony are hereby required, forthwith, to cause this Proclamation to be posted up in the most public Places, in each of the Towns in their respective Counties.

GIVEN under my Hand and Seal at Arms, at Newport, this Twelfth Day of June, in the Twelfth Year of the Reign of His Most Sacred Majesty, GEORGE THE THIRD, by the Grace of God, King of Great-Britain, and so forth, Annoq; Dom. One Thousand, Seven Hundred and Seventy-two.

The Managers appointed by the General Assembly are Nicholas Brown, John Jenckes, William Russell, Benjamin Thurber, Edward Thurber, Nathaniel Wheaton, Daniel Tillinghast, William Holroyd, James Arnold, and Nicholas Power, who have given Bond for the faithful Performance of their respective Trusts.

That the above Scheme is calculated more in Favour of the Adventurers than many heretofore published, is very obvious, as there are upwards of 400 Prizes more than Blanks throughout the Lottery, many of them very valuable, and subject to no Deduction - the Managers therefore promise themselves the chearful Assistance and Encouragement of the Public, especially when it is considered that this is the first Time the Baptist Society have sollicited their Assistance in this Way, which they can assure them would not now have been the Case, had they not purchas[illegible]ch more Land, and designed a House as much larger than the Society required for their own Use (purposely to accommodat[illegible]e Commencements) as will amount to the full Sum propose[illegible] to be raised by this Lottery.—The Time and Place of Drawing will be duly notified in the Providence Gazette, and the Money-Prizes paid off in thirty Days after the Drawing of each successive Class shall be made public; if not demanded within six Months after such Time, they will be deemed generously given for the Purpose aforesaid.—Prizes which according to the above Scheme are to be paid in Tickets, and not demanded within 50 Days after the Drawing is made public, will be forfeited.

Tickets may be had of the Managers, at their respective Dwellings.

V E R S E S

Made on the sudden D E A T H of Six Young Women and one Boy, who were Drowned at Jamestown, Rhode-Island, July 13, 1782.

I.

HARK! hark! and hear the solemn news of late,
The solemn providence! the awful fate!
Sev'n blooming youths all in their health and prime,
By sudden death were snatched out of time.

II.

'Twas on the thirteenth of July, we hear,
Five young men, two boys, twelve ladies fair,
Who had combin'd to go the day before,
To take a sail as far as Jamestown shore.

III.

In merriment to spend the afternoon,
Not knowing what was their unhappy doom!
For a they on the pleasant sea did sail,
Most unexpected came a sudden gale.

IV.

A fatal gale! that tossed them all o'er
Into the sea before they reach'd the shore;
They in the waves were wafted to and fro,
Praying to God his mercy to bestow.

V.

Who can express the lamentations there.
The shrieks and cries, the horror and despair,
Six virgins fair, all in their youth and bloom,
Likewise a boy, intert'd in wat'ry tomb.

VI.

Oh! what a scene of grief to these young men,
To see so many drown'd by side of them,
For sure it was not in their power to save,
Thuse that went down into the wat'ry grave.

VII.

Cast no reflection then on them, I say,
For who can live when death demands his prey,
Several who saw this mournful sad event,
Immediately to their assistance went.

VIII.

Out of the sea they took up five young men,
With six young women, and a boy with them,
Twelve of them sav'd out of the raging sea,
And from the borders of eternity.

IX.

For sure they would into the raging main,
Been drowned too, had not assistance came.
Oh! then dear youth, do not forget I pray,
God's providence in saving you that day.

X.

Now when their tender parents came to hear,
The awful death of their poor children dear,
They wrung their hands and wept most bitterly,
For their dear children drowned in the sea.

XI.

Who can express the sorrows of the heart,
To think their children dear and they must part,
By sudden death, in such a manner too,
To bid the world, and all therein adieu.

XII.

Fain would they see their children who are dead,
Would have them found and decent buried,
Numbers in boats went over from the town,
To see if the deceased could be found.

XIII.

With hooks and graplins, seine, and divers ways,
They did invent their bodies for to raise;
With diligence they swept the shore around,
Until they had six of their bodies found.

XIV.

And still they wept, yet could they find no more,
Then they return'd unto their native shore,
Leaving behind one only daughter dear,
Who has since floated up and found we hear.

XV.

When the deceased were brot o'er to town,
A numerous multitude then flocked down,
Seeing the dead, they wept until the store
Of tears was spent, and they could weep no more.

XVI.

They more obdurate must have been than stone,
Who could not sympathize and for them moan;
They then repair'd unto the funeral,
And dreadful was the tolling of the bell.

XVII.

The bearers move the mourners all do go,
To pay the debt to the decease'd they owe,
A numerous crowd did then assemble round,
To hear a sermon on the burying ground.

XVIII.

That was deliver'd there on this event,
All in due season and most excellent,
Deliver'd by a servant of the Lord,
Whom God assisted there to speak his word.

XIX

He thus began with words to this import,
Man's born to trouble, and his life is short,
He then set forth the way, the truth, and light,
The gospel preach'd, and sinners did invite.

XX

To come unto the fountain of free grace;
That they in Christ true riches might embrace,
He warned them of death and judgment too,
And gave to saints and sinners both their due.

XXI

He then the weeping mourners did address,
And pray'd that God would sanctify and bless,
This awful Providence, that they might be
Happy in Christ to all eternity.

XXII.

With pious Job in sore afflictions say,
The Lord doth give and also take away:
Thus to exhort the youth he did begin,
And warned them for to beware of sin.

XXIII

To prepare to follow those already gone,
Their fellow youth into the world unknown.
A word to the survivors did apply,
Not to forget the thirteenth of July.

XXIV.

When they were snatched from the jaws of death,
Seven fellow youths resigned their me[illegible]

From the great GOD who [illegible]
